Position of the Contract Labour under Occupational Safety Health and Working Conditions Code 2020

November 27, 2020 | 12.00 PM

Contract Employment has been a complex subject since its inception. While on one hand, it is important to have a floating workforce to execute short-duration work or time-bound projects, uncertainty of job and lack of a comprehensive social security cover are cited as the reasons against its desirability. Yet, both the arguments are silenced by the fact that Contract Labour has come to stay, therefore, a strategic approach for its implementation is called for.

As you are aware, the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act has been consolidated under Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020 along with 12 others acts. Some of the issues under Chapter XI i.e. special provisions for the contract labour of the code like the applicability of the act, primarily responsibility on principal employer, effects of employing contract labour from a non-licensed contractor, intimation to the appropriate authority on receipt of work order, prohibition of employment of contract labour etc. are areas of concern for the enterprises.

To discuss the matter at length, the All India Organisation of Employers (AIOE) along with FICCI is organising an “Webinar on Position of the Contract Labour under Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code 2020” on November 27, 2020 at 12.00 p.m. on a virtual platform.
